

Asarum canadense

Wild Ginger

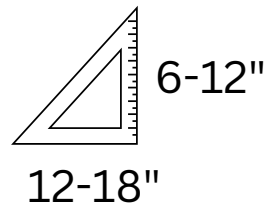

Easily grown groundcover in shady, average-to-wet areas. Prefers constantly moist, acidic soils in light to heavy shade. Spreads slowly by rhizomes to form an groundcover.

Wildlife Value: Larval host for the Pipevine Swallowtail butterfly. The little maroon flowers are hidden under the leaves and attract butterflies and other pollinators with their sweet fragrance.

DEER RESISTANT

DISCOVER THE POWER OF NATIVE PLANTS
BLOOM WILD
www.bloom-wild.com